

Digitaciones regulares para la flauta

The image displays a series of musical exercises for the flute, organized into four columns. Each row represents a specific exercise or fingering pattern. The first column shows musical notation (treble clef, notes, and accidentals). The second column shows fingering diagrams using solid black circles to indicate finger placement. The third column shows musical notation (treble clef, notes, and accidentals). The fourth column shows fingering diagrams using hollow circles to indicate finger placement. The exercises cover various notes and intervals, including octaves and chromatic scales.

The image displays a series of flute exercises, each consisting of a musical staff and a corresponding finger chart. The exercises are arranged in four columns and nine rows. Each row shows a specific scale or pattern with its key signature and the required fingerings for each note.